

Stability and Change

In nature some things stay the same and some things change. Changes can be fast or slow.

What reasons can you find for things changing or remaining stable? How are change and stability connected?

